Afters (2008)

Musik über Musik

In 1535, Luther wrote the chorale Vom Himmel hoch da komm' ich her.

In 1746 Bach wrote his Canonical Variations on the Christmas hymn "Vom Himmel hoch da komm' ich her" BWV 769.

In 1956 Stravinsky based his Choral Variations on Bach's Canonical Variations.

In 1978 Karl Aage Rasmussen wrote Parts Apart for string quartet, flute and oboe - a deconstruction of Stravinsky's arrangement of Bach.

In 2008, I wrote Afters - a free interpretation of Rasmussen deconstructing Stravinsky's arrangement of Bach's variations on Luther...

Performance notes

The player will need to equip himself suitably. The sound represented by 'squeak squawk' is a hooter which hoots on the squeeze and on the release (the original model was bright pink, rejoiced in the name of 'Toot Horn' and cost £3.99 from Halfords.) This could be mounted on a suitable stand to give visual as well as aural delight.

The interpolated sounds should be exactly to rhythm, except for the two spoken phrases which should be spoken quite naturally, the rhythms being notated purely for guidance.

Additional dynamics may be added at the player's pleasure.

The musical score for 'Afters' is written in 4/4 time and consists of six systems of music. Each system contains a single melodic line on a treble clef staff. The first system begins with a dynamic marking of f (forte) and a fermata over the first measure. The melody is composed of eighth and quarter notes, often beamed together in groups of four. The piece concludes with a final measure containing a quarter rest, a quarter note, and a quarter rest, followed by a fermata.

So far so good, it's just like

Stamp!

Bach.

Hey!

Stamp!

Ho!

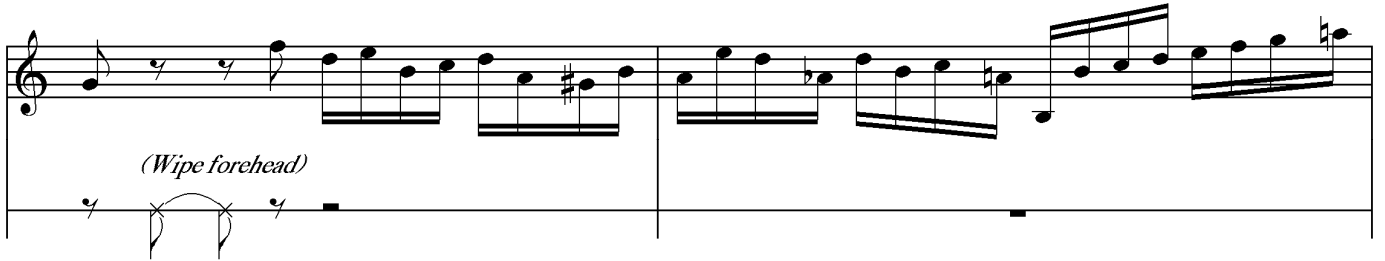

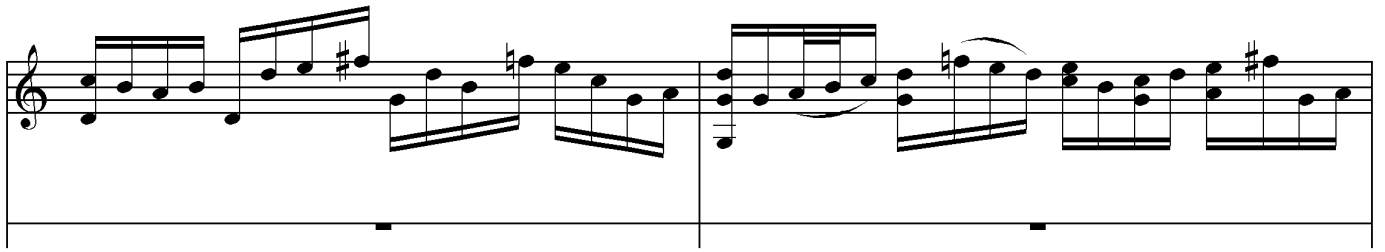

Hi!

Wah!

Stamp!

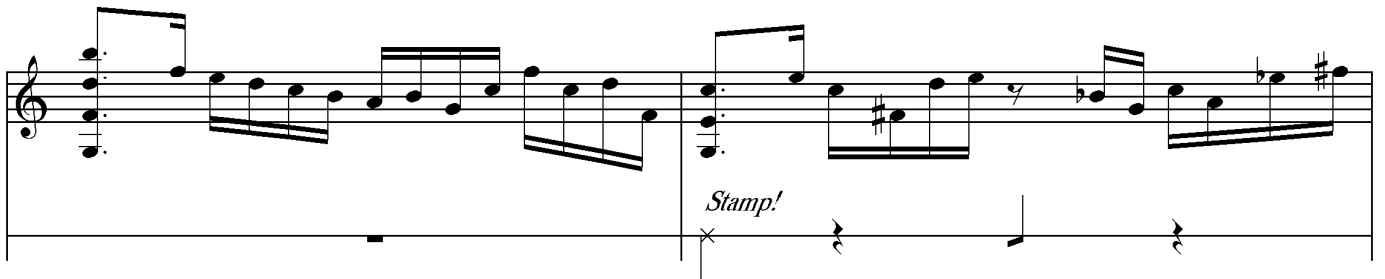

Hey!

Squeak squawk

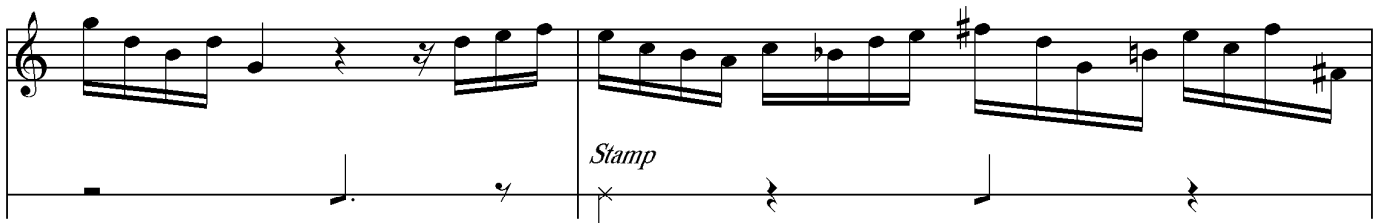

(Wipe forehead)

Phew!

Stamp!

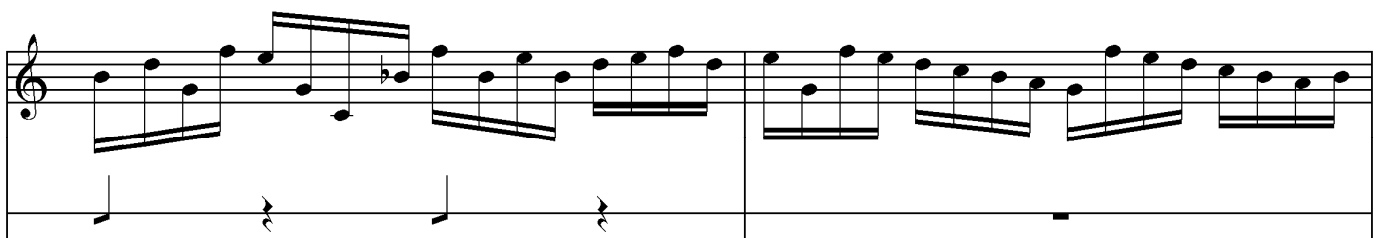

Hey!

Stamp
